Beautiful 1952 Lincoln Capri

This 1952 Lincoln Capri is equipped with a 317.5ci Y-block V8 backed by a four-speed automatic transmission. Accents include front driving lights, chrome rocker panels, polished beltline trim, and side skirts for the rear wheel openings. Steel wheels measure 15" and wear full covers. Firestone wide-whitewall radial tires are equipped, including the matching spare that resides in the trunk. The interior features a two-tone black and red scheme on the front and rear bench seats, door panels, and rear side panels. Black carpeting, a black boot cover, and a gray-painted dashboard also are equipped. The perforated metal dashboard is fronted by a two-spoke steering wheel and houses a 110-mph speedometer.

USS Wisconsin

The USS Wisconsin is currently docked in Norfolk Va and is open as a exhibit at the Nauticus National Naval Museum.

USS Wisconsin (BB-64) is an Iowa Class battleship built at the Philadelphia Naval Shipyard and launched December 7, 1943. It entered World War II in April 1944. The Wisconsin also served in the Korean conflict and Desert Storm, after a modernization program. The Wisconsin's main battery consisted of nine 16 inch guns, which could fire 2,700 lb (1,200 kg) armor-piercing shells some 20 miles. The secondary battery consisted of twenty 5 inch guns in ten twin turrets, which could fire at targets up to 10 miles away. With the advent of air power and the need to gain and maintain air superiority came a need to protect the growing fleet of allied aircraft carriers. To this end, Wisconsin was fitted with an array of Oerlikon 20 mm and Bofors 40mm anti-aircraft guns to defend allied carriers from enemy airstrikes. When reactivated in 1986, Wisconsin had her 20 mm and 40 mm AA guns removed, and was outfitted with Phalanx CIWS mounts for protection against enemy missiles and aircraft, and Armored Box Launchers and Quad Cell Launchers designed to fire Tomahawk and Harpoon missiles.

Everything is massive

Some statistics:

45000 Ton, 8887.3 ft long, 108 ft wide, 37 ft draft, currently floats 2-4 ft above the channel bottom, During WWII, 2900 men served aboard the Wisconsin which was almost 1000 more than was designed. This overcrowding resulted in a complete lack of privacy, even on a ship this large.

One Wisconsin sailor looked for a friend in another division for three days. Finally, he wrote his friend a post-card reading "Meet me on the deck beside Turret III at noon".

During the Gulf War, the ship had a crew of 1600 allowing each sailor to have a bunk with a privacy curtain, reading light and locking storage under the bunk

Food Consumption: During WWII, cooks daily prepared:

4100 lbs vegetables	1640 lbs fruit
1500 lbs flour	2465 lbs meat
164 lbs butter	205 lbs coffee

Signal flags are used at sea for communication between ships, affording transmittal in a silent manner. They can spell out short messages. Individual flags and various combinations of flags also have special meanings. On ceremonial occasions they 'dress or decorate a ship'.

Building the Wisconsin:

• 312,000 lbs paint	5,000 light bulbs
• 348,000 lbs blueprint paper	1,135,000 rivets
• 422,000 ft piping	900 electric motors
• 4,300,000 ft welding wire	1,330,000 ft electric cable
